ABSTRACT

Questions and Answers About Life

- How is the mud used as a model for the relationship of human with nature?
- How does the real life mathematics work that is found in mud?

All the beings that the humans perceive is home to the soul that lives in it and forms it. That soul which forms this house, develops it, envelops it, abandons it after using it for a while and leaves it to decay and becoming material for other beings.

The association of the mud bricks with themselves, the other materials and their surroundings is realized with the simple and basic mathematics of nature. Understanding the wholeness around mud. Taken as a symbol of any natural method the mud gives us the opportunity to attain infinity in the infinite opportunities that exist in the laws of nature by increasing our experience on the path to personal wisdom and mastery. Here the satisfaction of the so called “needs” that are accepted as vitals just because they were stated so by humans is not an issue because in reality we can not pay the price of these so called “needs”.
