

HOUSING CONSTRUCTION WITH USE OF CLAY MATERIALS

A.A. Tulaganov, H.H. Kamilov, S.S. Kasimova,

B. A. Tulaganov

Tashkent Architectural - building institute

Abstract

Clay organic materials are historically usual local building materials in many regions of globe, where they were used and till now are used at erection clayey of walls and ground block. The construction from clay materials has received distribution due to their availability, economic durability and good head conductivity of properties.

The analysis of historical and modern use of clay materials in housing construction of Uzbekistan is resulted.